

Planning return to work health screenings? Let FTI Services help.

In light of recent health concerns, it is natural to be cautious about your workforce returning to the office. FTI Services offers a complete remote body temperature scanning system. Safe-T SCANS, the Safe Thermal Screening Camera And Notification System, allows you to check the body temperature of employees and guests arriving to your facilities, quickly and touch free.

Touchless

Check employees' and guests' temperatures just like a temporal thermometer, but without physical contact, so you can continue to practice social distancing.

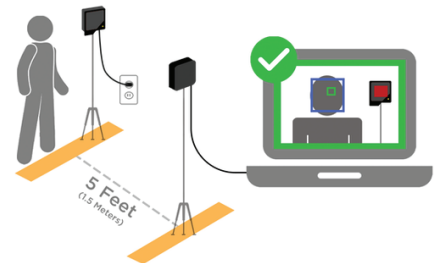

Ease of Use

A system that requires no special training allows you and your team to start scanning in a snap, and saving time as a result.

Trusted Technology

Thermal imaging has been used for years and can detect the face, the most reliable area to measure temperature, accurately and efficiently.

Peace of Mind

Knowing your team is healthy allows you to get down to business. Knowing your system cost significantly less than other solutions allows you to save money.

FTI Services offers a comprehensive set of solutions backed by qualified engineers with years of experience in the field. Give us a call today to discuss your business' needs. We can help.
